Table 1: 2004 best 120 point GPA (including summer school courses above stage 1)

The ‘University’ did not send my research out for external examination in 2004. They withheld the grade to record re-enrolment in the same qualification for 2005.

Table 2: 2004 best 120 point GPA (including summer school courses above stage 1)

120 points (total) were distributed across 2 academic years (and the 2004 / 2005 summer school period) for a total of less than 120 points per year.

In fact, they did not send my research out for external examination until after my enrolment had expired in 2006. The graded thesis was not returned to me until after I left the country (after I had started my PhD with the ANU) around April of 2006.

Here is a link to the Tertiary Education Commission Regulations as to how 1 EFT = 120 points = 34 weeks of enrolment (including the examination period)
